A New Authorities

A new antiseptic has been discovered in Germany. In general use it is called antinounin. One part of the substance in from 1,500 to 2,000 parts of scapsuds is destructive to all the common parasites injurious to plants. It destroys all bacteria. Youst used in browing remains fresh for a long time when treated with it and can endure a solution as strong as 5 per cent of the substance. It is oduriess and very cheap. -- Eluchange.

BRIGAND LEVIES TAXES.

He Also Preserves the Peace and Protects Property.

"Brigandage is still rampont in many rural districts in Italy," said Dr. Ravogli, the resident Italian consul to a Cincinnati Enquirer reporter, "From advices I receive occasionally I keep in touch with home affairs and a letter from a friend in Trieste contains a reference to Tiburzi, one of the most picturesque of these freebooters. Tiburzi is about 48. At the beginning of his career he was as bad as others in the same vocation in life. In 1872 he was caught, convicted of highway robbery and murder, and sentenced to imprisonment for life. He escaped in 1874 and took refuge in a wood, near Viterbo, where he lived in security in spite of the seventeen warrants and a large reward for his arrest. The reason of this security is simple enough. He was good to the poor-any peasant in need of help could always get a gold coin from Tiburat-and he punished traiters. Consequently the peasants were ready to assist him against the police or government emissaries, and those who would willingly have given information were atraid to do so After his escape Tiburzi altered his method of gaining a living. He caused It to be made known to all the wellto-do people in the district that if they paid him an annual contribution he would not interfere with them and would protect them from molestation by others. It was considered advisable to agree and Tibural has been for years in receipt of a large income, one man alone paying him $150 a year. Crime has considerably diminished in the district; the smaller fry dare not molest Tiburzi's proteges, for he is still a good shot with his English repeating rifle. Tiburzi does what the government cannot do: he collects taxes without trouble and he keeps down crime. It must not be supposed that he hides in the woods all day. He can walk about the whole district without fear of capture and he lives in good style. He goes to Rome sometimes, presumably in disguise, and has even been abroad. Will he ever be airested? Time alone will tell."

EARLY MINING LAWS.

In Former Years the Gold Diggings Were Public Property.

"The earliest mining laws were enacted not by congress, but by the miners themselves in the mining districts,' writes ex-President Harrison in the Ladies' Home Journal. "It is a curious fact that from 1849 to 1866, the period of the greatest development in the mining of gold, there was no law of the United States regulating the subject. The prospectors roamed over the public lands, located placer or quarts mines and took out a fabulous store of wealth. A policy to reserve mineral lands from sale under the general land laws prevailed for many years and had been expressed in suitable laws, but no provision had been made for the sale of such lands. In the land grants to the Pacific railroad companies was provided that mineral lands should not pass under the grants. The river beds guiches and mountain sides were prospected by men who carried picks and basins in their hands and a brace of plutols in their belis. They were affame with the lust of gold and among them were many desperate men, but they had the Anglo-Saxon's instincts for organizing civil institutions and his love for fair play. There were mining laws and in many places none of any seri. They met the emerency by a public meeting, which resolved itself into a legislative body with full powers to make a code that did not cover a wide field, but covered their case. The limits of a claim and the distribution of the water supply were prescribed and established and every man became a warranter of every other man's title. These camp legislators had this advantage of congress and of other legislative bodies that I know of-they had a good practical knowledge of the subjects they deait with.

NASAL CATARRH FOR YEARS. So-Called Catarry Cures Palled to Cure The True Way is to Take the One True Blood Purifley.

Catarrh is caused by Impure blood. The best physicians say so. The only way to cure catarra is to purify the blood. Hood's Sarasparilla cures catarrh when all other medicines fall, because Hood's Sarsaparilla is The One True Blood Purifier. This is logical, and that it is true is proved by thousands of testimonials like this:

"I was troubled with nassleatarrh for many years. I doctored for it, and at one time took a dozen bottles of so-called catarra cure. but without benedicial effect. I had read of cases

Had Been Cured by Rond's Saraparilla, and I determined to try it. took five bottles last year, and was highly pleased with the relief obtained. I have tail no particular trouble from entarth slace that time except a slight inflammation when I catch cold. I have proved, in my own case, that Hood's Sarvaparilla will cure catarricand I also derived benefit in a general way from its use. It is an excellent remedy, and I am glad to give my experience with it for catarrh. for the benefit of those who may be similarly afflicted." Mas. John Lanuan, 160 Willsinson St., Goshen, Indiana.
